EMERGING TECHNOLOGIES

Bringing the latest technologies to our customers.

Whether an organization is an early adopter that tried out new technology as soon as it's released or companies that wait for months – sometimes years – before adapting new technology to their environment, regardless of which end of the spectrum you fall (most small businesses are somewhere in the middle), emerging technology engage people as they are constantly discussed in print publications, web seminars, conferences, television, and other sources of information.

At FABTEK, we stay abreast of the latest trends in technology, and look for the most cost effective, productivity enhancing technologies we can find. We then research them, test them in labs, and help our customers decide if they are right for them. Our IT consultants are constantly undergoing new training, attaining new certifications, and improving their knowledge and skills – we know technology doesn't stand still, so neither do we.

Some of the technologies that we are frequently asked about – and that our network and IT consultants can help you with are:

-  Virtualization
-  Cloud Computing Solutions
-  Enterprise Mobility Solutions
-  RFID Solutions
-  IP Telephony
